

Gale Swept Ships Death Cargo

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 27.—Estimates of the dead in Newfoundland's week-end hurricane rose this afternoon to 40, as reports reached land of more seamen drowned or missing after the terrific gale had subsided over the island.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 27.—Two gale-swept schooners limped into Newfoundland today with news of tragedy at sea that lifted the known toll of a week-end storm to 10 lives. The Lunenburg, N.S., fishing schooner Beatrice Beck and the Portuguese fisherman Senora Diavani, each had lost a man as the gale raged across Newfoundland's coastal waters. They made harbor soon after the little schooner Annie Anita had drifted ashore with a father and son dead in her cabin.

The storm-swept Annie Anita sighted yesterday ashore on her beam ends off Cape Pine, came ashore with the bodies of Captain Walsh and his young son floating in the backwash of the storm that left a trail of havoc along the island's coast.

CARGO OF DEATH
As the brought her cargo of death to land, Newfoundlanders counted six others lost aboard the schooner Walter. Captain Butcher, his four brothers and sister as well as his wife and two children were reported to have perished down with her when the sea took her. Sunday.
More were believed to have died when the storm struck two other ships off the coast. One of them, the schooner, was reported to have been lost.

CANADA-U.S. HOLDS PARLEY ON COMMERCE

Negotiations on Reciprocal Trade Are Now Going On at Capitol

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Conversations looking toward a reciprocal trade treaty between Canada and the United States were continued today by technical advisers from Ottawa and the state and commerce departments in Washington.

Across the table bargaining which began yesterday proceeded in the absence of the Canadian minister, Hon. W. D. Herridge, who left yesterday for Ottawa, and L. D. Wilgus, chief of commercial intelligence who arrived in Ottawa after prolonged conversations.

The same reticence surrounded today's talks as had cloaked those of yesterday and the day before, drawn by informed circles that both terms of readiness to make viewing possible concessions on either side.

The consensus was that while negotiations had reached the definite stage of proposition and counter-proposition after months of investigation there was immediate probability of agreement.

SOVIET SPURNS U.S. OBJECTION

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—The Soviet government today rejected the United States protest against American activities in the U.S.A. Ambassador William C. Bullitt of the United States received a note from the Soviet government in which Mr. Bullitt said:

"I cannot accept your protest and I am compelled to reject it."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The Soviet rejection of the American protest against interference in American affairs was a surprise to well-informed observers—force the United States to review the character of its future relationship with the Soviet Union.

Novelty fabrics used for costumes and also for trimming both millinery and dresswear are very much in evidence this season.

Thin forward-jutting hairs, for instance, use coq feathers at the back of the head from the crown to the accompanying gloves. There are also black felt or velvet trimmed with gold cabochons or nailheads.

Midseason hats are new creations for each fall and winter, trimmed with veils. Veils range from streamers that cover only the eyes to long flowing types that hang to the waistline. One especially alluring veil is made of tulle and has large coin dots of fringed lovelace velvet. It is very long at the sides—parted and shirred across the center of the forehead.

School children are best dressed when they are simply dressed. That statement has passed into an axiom. The child of 1938 is more and more inclined to be seen in woolen frocks. Plaids always are colorful and smart. The child in the picture, seated on the rock, wears a plaid wool coat on princess lines, with a wide collar and a wide belt. The collar and narrow cuffs give an unusually smart look to this frock.

The child leaning down to look into the pool is wearing a rust color dress with a wide collar and a wide belt. The collar and narrow cuffs give an unusually smart look to this frock.

The last frock, right, is a navy and white, hand-knocked linen frock which buttons up the front. This frock has a navy collar and a wide belt.

BERRIES MAKE FINE JELLY

BY KATHARINE BAKER

Typical of Western Canada is the flavoured Saskatoon berry now so popular in the summer. The delicate almond-like flavor is found in no other Canadian berry. The berries are so delicious that Canadian delicacy when they make the fruit into a tender jelly.

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

Mrs. W. A. Brown in her address to the Canadian Immigration Commission pointed out the differences in customs, dress, education, etc., to which immigrants from the United States and England, our country must be accustomed. She herself asked that members of our institutions help in every way possible the thousands of immigrants from people who have come to us from foreign lands.

Mrs. H. W. Peterson, of Chatham, Ontario, president of the Canadian industries, while Mr. Rooney, of Dayland, was elected president of the Canadian Club, the only changes in officers.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet by Mrs. J. W. Bainbridge, Erickson and Mrs. J. W. Bainbridge.

ured if fully ripe fruit is used to make any jelly. Long ago only the fruit of the blackberry in jelly recipes because it has more pectin making substance, pectin. In fact, boiling the fruit a few minutes before cooking will get enough pectin to have the fruit-sugar-jelly mix. With the new short boll varieties all recipes will work. The jamming on results is unnecessary because as soon as the fruit syrup is added to the jelly, it will set in the exact proportions to give a perfect jelly.

The recipe given here can also be used for elderberry and black raspberry, as well as Saskatoon berry.

3 cups (1½ lbs.) berry juice; 7½

1 cup (1 1/2 cups) sugar, 5-cup lemon juice, 1 cup bottled fruit peeling.

To prepare juice, remove large stems from about 4 pounds, fully ripe lemons. Cut lemons in half. Squeeze. Heat gently until juice starts to flow, then simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Strain in jelly bag and squeeze out juice. Squeeze and strain juice from 4 medium lemons. Combine in 1 quart jar and into large European mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add sugar and lemon juice. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Add 1/2 cup Paraffin at once. Makes about 10 six ounce jars.

"DOING THINGS"

WITH VEILING

Milliners are "doing things" with veils this season. One prominent Paris hat designer, Made, veils the entire face, clear down to the chin. And these hairnets, the crown of the veil high on top of the hat in bows and loops.

For those who shun this other trimming, but do those things with felt that he cannot with other trimmings. Or rather, those things brimmed hat he slips the veil under the ribbon band, veiling that front half of the face and leaving the netting dip over the eyes. The veil is then brought to the back, where it piles in two rows.

DESSERT WAFFLES

Two and one-half cups cake flour,
1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup
spoon sugar, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup milk,
2 1/2 cups melted butter.

Beat the eggs, mix the yolks of eggs separately. Beat yolks until thick and add sugar. Beat whites until into the egg yolks. Beat the whites white of eggs, milk and melted butter. Add the egg whites and white of eggs beaten until stiff and bake in 1/2 hour in hot waffle iron. Serve with fruit or fruit or other sauce.

Fresh peach sauce is good. To make it, wash and cut up the peach pieces to be served.
Boil in water until tender. Add sugar as you like them. This sauce is good on waffles, too.

Put the sugar in a jar. Add the juice of one lemon. Seal the jar and let stand for an hour. They will be ready to use in 1/2 hour.
You will want to serve them.

Woman Must Observe All Marriage Rules

Some sentimental old bachelor or old maid must have dubbed this first year of marriage the honeymoon. Anyway, some amateur must have done it. No one with experience could have been guilty of such a misnomer, for every man and woman who have ever been through it know that it is a time of form and strife in which the bride puts on her hundred times to go back to Mother, and the bridegroom is perpetually wondering how he could have been sap enough to have ever let himself be dragged to the altar.

Hard as the honeymoon is on the young husband, it is harder still on the young wife. For she has not, for one thing, fallen so completely for all the boony about marriage being a state of perpetual bliss as she has, and for another she has to do her work to take his mind off his troubles. But she has nothing to do but pick flaws in her bargain and wonder what she has done to deserve them. The theme song of most brides during the honeymoon would be the old ditty: "I had a good home—or job—and I left it!"

Of course, in time, most married couples do adjust themselves to each other and learn how to keep off of each other's toes and to gum-shine each other's shoes. But even so, the honeymoon marriage has more compensations than drawbacks and is worth its price, but no one will deny that these

With a husband and wife in an accomplishment that is acquired by the wearing of a hard hat and bruised places in one's feelings.

"It has taken us forty years to acquire this perfect understanding," says your admin- istrator. "I said a happily married couple in one of the Howells' novels, and probably it does take that long for the average man and woman to work out the Jewish pattern to which they are married."

Yet, paradoxically enough, it is during the first year of marriage that they may need the philosophy, the sense of values and the sense of humor that it takes them to their golden-wedding day to achieve.

Probably about nine-tenths of the quarrels between young husbands and wives during the first year of marriage take place over the matter of the mother-in-law.

The next danger that the bride encounters during her honeymoon is the gas range with which she is generally totally unprepared to do battle. Why any girl is foolishly engaged to get married without knowing how to cook presents comprehension, but they do. Probably not 75 per cent of the brides can make a decent cup of coffee or connect a biscuit that is not a menace to life. They get their husbands down to meals that would poison an otchik, and when the poor husband's features grow over his face it starts one of those quarrels that start a honeymoon with a bang. Probably nine men out of ten get their first distaste of marriage and its joys when they sit at the table and see their wives

And the final peril of the honeymoon consists in the young wife thinking of marriage as a sentimental adventure, and that she has undertaken and that it is up to her to finish. When she makes up her mind to forget all about the lovey-dovey business and to get down to the serious job of introducing a man into the world, she is already bringing a man make a suc-

one of his life, she has set the pattern for her future. She has lived her first year of marriage but for all that are to follow.

For marriage is a great game for women of this age. How to play it.

A neat idea in columbers is a "wired" dress. It is made of a pin to which a wire is attached so that, when making jinn, as you require, the dress will "collapse" and lie down the floor. And the outside of the dress is made of any fabric if received in its rack.

Lowly Carrot Aids Health And Beauty

By GLADYS GLAD

The well-known Henry Ford, who needs no introduction here, has a very high opinion of the lowly carrot. Henry values him as a source of and carrots on his farms in Michigan. And he believes that this vegetable is one of the most healthful food substances in existence.

The great Mr. Ford uses the only individual who recognizes the value of the succulent, golden carrot, however. Take Mary Davis, for instance. Mary Davis is an ardent carrot eater. And she firmly believes that this vegetable is an excellent complexion beautifier.

Of course the value of the carrot as a complexion beautifier has long been recognized in theatrical circles. It is almost superfluous to say that the most beautiful actresses of the world have adopted this science now steps in to verify the health-giving properties of carrot-eating. For a well-known skin-beautifying routine that involves the daily consumption of raw carrot has been reported to him. If the routine is followed, a gradual but certainly noticeable improvement in the skin of a lady day keeps her lovely.

particular to result in a cure. In fact, each day, one entire meal should consist of carrots, and the rest of the day be on carrot salad. This salad should be composed of lettuce and dried or shredded carrots, because the latter are sweeter, firmer, and contain more vitamins. Tomatoes and cucumbers are also good, but the latter are best for dressing. Lemon juice and oil, or vinegar and oil may be used.

CONSTITUTES ENTIRE MEAL

This salad must not be merely a side-dish to a hearty meal, or a course. Do not think that it is an over-valuation in heavy, rich dishes and then reap the benefits of this routine just by merely nibbling at a carrot salad in addition. The salad prescribed should comprise the entire meal in itself. And as much of the salad as desired can be consumed. As you probably remember, both carrots and lettuce are rich in vitamins. In addition, they are fibrous, and help to keep the tract clean of poisonous

PONOKA BALL CLUB ENTERS FINAL BY WIN

U.S. New Deal Retarded

FUNDS FOR MAJOR BILLS ARE TIED UP

Huey Long's Congressional Fillbuster Blamed For Defeat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Congress adjourned after a historic session of legislative legislative today, but left behind a bill which Senator Huey Long, Louisiana Democrat, the money for major new deal projects.

The senate quit at midnight Monday after the last day of administration. President Roosevelt had threatened to veto Long's bill, but the senate had passed it.

Bluntly, he was charged by Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, Senator Black (D. Ala.) and others with "deliberate killing" the third deficiency bill "carrying funds for the aged and crippled by his filibuster."

I AM, SAYS LONG
"No, I ain't," Long retorted, as he talked on.
Dewar, President Roosevelt, up late in the White House, going over correspondence and a huge stack of bills awaiting signature.

At the other end of the Capitol, representatives sat and performed their hard work in the chamber, any session-end frolic, then adjourned.

MAJORITY SCOPE
Wrapped in the $100,000,000 deficiency bill Long talked to death was money not only to start the social security program, but also to fund the security arms and armor program.

Through some has contained Mr. Long's bill, the committee on work-relief funds, Robinson said, the bill would be killed.

Juggernaut Prepared For Speed Records

George Eyston, Fellow Passenger of Sir Malcolm Campbell, Will Try Sands of Utah.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Sir Malcolm Campbell's famous record-breaking Bluebird will have a rival for public interest when it arrives in America late in August for another attempt at the mystic 300-mile-an-hour mark on Utah's great salt plain.

Traveling in the same liner with the famous Campbell's Bluebird, Captain Eyston and Albert Denly, who will pilot the car, believe will save much time in the lightening system for the long night runs is now, two headlight beams carried together inside the nose of the car and throwing their beams through periscopes in the streamlined cover.

Since the car weighs nearly two tons, both front and rear wheels off the ground in one movement for five seconds.

NEW CREATION
In the new 200-mile-an-hour creation Capt. Eyston intends to smash practically every record that his distinguished countryman doesn't want from 20 miles to 24 hours. He anticipates little difficulty in bettering all the 20 records recently set on the same Utah coast by other Briton, John Cobb.

Light Alloy Frame
The body, held on a light alloy frame, is shaped as half a true structure, being flat. Extensions, each side cover the gas tanks and carry the wheels. Huffs

HOSTS WHO TERPSICHOVE IN VANCOUVER

Civic Free Street Dance Attracts 60,000 in Last Few Days

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—While as many more booked on, some 4,000 couples shuffled over the pavement in the lee of the 24-story Municipal building last night to the strains of estimated 60,000 the number who have attended Vancouver's open-air dance.

Sponsored by the city council, the idea of creating a spirit amongst residents and visitors alike as well as to the Pacific exhibition which opens here Friday, the dance week took approximately $500 which was paid by public subscription.

From nine p.m. until midnight, sometimes later, the couples danced over a two-block area on Hastings and Burrard streets where the two lights went out the waterfront.

The dancing will end tonight.

Two Groups
Street railway motormen split up into the opposing groups of the junior operators formed the A.I.C. union in the fight to get out of day runs. They were blocked in an international group composed of senior operators.

In a report submitted by commissioners Monday it was recommended that two agreements be signed to cover the street railway department was held Monday at city council meeting when union agreements came up for ratification. Following a short debate, commissioners were given power to execute the agreements.

SAYS BROOKER
"The international unions have proved the town council that we were where you got off at the last election," Mayor Clarke told the labor men.

He said that the city make an agreement with the majority of workers in each department was moved by such procedure, declaring that a pact could be entered into only with the group having the majority of members.

Citizen Keily Called Down At Council Meet

Taking himself into trouble again at city council meeting Monday night, C. M. Keily, "conscience" objector, on city hall matters, particularly paving contracts, narrowly escaped being hauled before the council chamber when Mayor W. A. G. Clarke called a constable to deal with him.

Monday night's episode centered around a request by Mayor Keily that he be supplied with a detailed report of the town paving job completed in 1931.

City Solicitor Tom. Gardie informed council that preparation of such a report would cost between $20 and $25. Mr. Keily was told he could have the required information if he paid this price.

After some argument Mr. Keily was ordered by the mayor to leave and shut up. When he failed to do this, the constable on duty in the chamber was ordered to remove him. He then took his seat quietly.
